Story Map Buildings Events

— CHAPTER TWO — WHERE IT CAME FROM

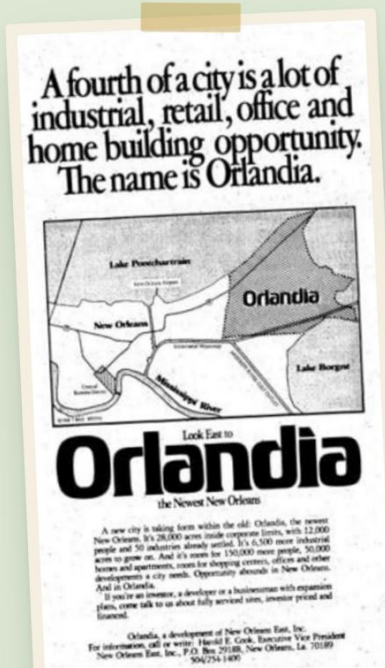

The East was master-planned as its own downtown.

In the 1960s and 70s, New Orleans East was marketed as "Orlandia — the newest New Orleans": a quarter of the city laid out with its own commercial heart. Lake Forest Boulevard was built to be that heart — a main-street, downtown-style hub serving a growing community. Those buildings are still standing. And by the historic tax credit program's own measure, they are now crossing into historic age.

Hello Ray,

How can we get them designated as a Louisiana Main Street in New Orleans East?

OFFICER ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

Every board has officers—official leadership roles that keep the board organized and accountable.

ROLE	MAIN FOCUS	KEY DUTIES
Chair/President	Leadership, strategy, governance	Sets meeting agendas, keeps discussions on track, serves as the main partner for the executive director.
Vice Chair	Leadership and support	Fills in for the chair, leads committees or projects, prepares for taking on the chair role.
Treasurer	Financial oversight	Reviews budgets, financial reports, and audits to ensure financial accountability. Helps the board understand the organization's numbers.
Secretary	Records and compliance	Keeps records of board meetings, ensuring that minutes are accurate and decisions documented. Might oversee compliance with filing requirements.

Some boards also include:

- + A past chair, for continuity
- + Committee chairs to lead groups or projects
- + At-large members (those without official board titles or roles) for flexibility

Ideas??

Christian Symbolism: In early Christianity and medieval lore, the pelican represents self-sacrifice, charity, and the Eucharist. This stems from an ancient legend that a mother pelican would wound her own breast to feed her starving young with her blood.

Spiritual Meaning: Spiritually, the pelican symbolizes abundance, resilience, and generosity. Its ability to dive gracefully and store large amounts of "food" is often tied to providing wisdom, going with the flow, and maintaining your center during life's storms.
